SUN BEAMS

By WALTER M. BARRETT

Morally, there is probably no more harm in catching fish out of season or at night than at any other time. The restrictions placed onangling for six months of the year and at night and the fixing of a limit were all man-made laws, designed to keep the sport perpetual and afford a healthful recreation for those who desire it. These laws are observed willingly and cheerfully by sportsmen, but they are being violated by some who have no conception of the word sportsmanship. The fish and game officers are doing their best to curb night fishing and fishing out of season. Perhaps there would be a better job done if we had a warden constantly on the Truckee river. That would probably result in the apprehension of many violators and then with a good, stiff penalty for those apprehended, the problem might be eliminated. But trying to appeal to violators through a sense of sportsmanship is a waste of effort.

We haven't yet been able to entirely understand just how the installation of a short-wave radio receiving set, connected with police broadcasts in the larger centers, is going to be of material benefit to Truckee, but maybe it will. At any rate, the local chamber of commerce agreed to sponsor the project and contributed a small sum to aid in its purchase. The one advantage which is quite apparent is that criminals, who are now finding it extremely difficult to pass through Truckee are going to find it doubly hard. What with the state teletype system, the telephone, telegraph and speedy cars, officers should be kept well informed on the movement of lawbreakers. Any apparatus designed for prevention of crime or apprehension of the criminal warrants the support of all law abiding citizens, not alone in Truckee but also in the towns and cities in which the crimes are committed.

We are not going to say a word this week about the beautiful spring weather. Last week we did and the paper had no sooner left the press than a real storm struck, ending after nearly a foot of new snow had fallen.

RENEW EFFORTS TO HAVE WARNING AT LOCAL CROSSING

Renewed efforts to have the Southern Pacific Company install a crossing signal at Bridge street will be made by the Truckee Chamber of Commerce. This was decided at the meeting Monday and the secretary, Mrs. Lotta Bryant was instructed to communicate with the company and obtain its attitude on the suggestion.

While it was pointed out that the crossing is dangerous unless caution is exercised, it was also brought to the chamber's attention that because of the heavy rail traffic through Truckee, the signal would be operating almost continuously.

The chamber at the meeting also voted to sponsor installation of a short wave radio receiving set to be located either at the checking station west of Truckee or at the quarantine station east of here. It is the purpose of the set, as explained by Patrolman Arthur Barrack of the highway patrol, who introduced the idea, to make it possible for officers here to be advised of any emergency crime details through the agency of the radio which will be kept in communication with Reno, Sacramento and Grass Valley.

The chamber voted to contribute $10 toward the installation costs.

Body Badly Mangled, Found On Tracks By Trainmen

The body of an unidentified man, between 55 and 60 years of age, was found near the Southern Pacific tracks between Cisco and Soda Springs early Wednesday by the crew on a freight train.

From the badly mangled condition of the body it was indicated he had fallen while riding a freight train and was caught under the wheels.

Coroner Francis West of Placer County was called and is attempting to establish the victim's identity.

There was nothing in the shabby clothing to assist officers in their identification.

Special Officer Al Pfaendler of Truckee was called to aid in the investigation.

CAR STOLEN FROM GARAGE HERE IS LOCATED IN EAST

That the arm of the law is long and exceedingly hard to avoid was again proven last week when an automobile stolen in Truckee last winter was recovered and the alleged thief arrested in North Carolina last week.

The car, a late model Oldsmobile sedan belonging to Frank Kinne, Truckee barber shop owner, was stolen from a garage here more than six weeks ago and a description was immediately broadcast.

Last week officers in North Carolina wired that the machine had been recovered there. The California license plates were found concealed under the rear seat. The driver, whose name was not immediately learned, was held.

In the meatime, Kinne has purchased a new Pontiac and the recovered car will be assessed and claimed by the insurance company.

The last quarterly conference of the First Methodist Church of Truckee will be held here Sunday night at which time Dr. H. K. Hamilton of Sacramento, superintendent of the Sacramento and Nevada district is scheduled to be the speaker, it was announced this week by Rev. G. W. Emigh, local pastor.

The church conference year ends in June, Rev. Emigh said, and at that time the Truckee pastor plans to permanently retire from the pulpit. It was not known, Emigh said, if a successor will be named.

All members and friends of the church are urged to attend the Sunday evening service and hear the message by Dr. Hamilton.

Night Fishing On River To Bring Nimrods Trouble

Officers Seeking To Find Those Violating Fish Laws Here

Assurance that steps are being taken to bring to justice the fishermen who have been fishing at night on the Truckee river, was given this week, when reports of the flagrant violation of the fish and game laws were received.

The trout fishing season does not open on the Truckee until May 1 and even after that date night fishing is prohibited. Severe penalties are in store for the violators, it was indicated.

PLAN BANNING OF BARS IN DISTRICT NEAR BOCA DAM

Permits for the opening of bars near the Boca dam site may not be issued as protests have been made to the state board of equalization and the federal engineers are hopeful of the prevention of liquor sales to workers near the dam site.

Russell B. Farley of Nevada City, enforcement officer for the state board, made an investigation at the site and filed his report with the board.

Work is under way with approximately 37 men employed. This number will be sufficient until completion of the single diversion tunnel in about two months from now. No other work will be done on the dam proper, which will give employment to 300 men, until the water is diverted through the tunnel, which will have a small face, allowing only a few workmen at a time.

NEW STORMS OVER SIERRAS BRINGS MORE SNOW HERE

Nine Inches of New Snow Brings Precipitation To High Mark

TESTS SHOW CONTENTS

Survey Trip Is Completed By Forest Men In Area

Hobart I. Snider of the forest service, reported that during Monday night and early Tuesday morning nine inches of snow fell with one inch precipitation, raising Truckee's total snow fall for the season to 228.45 inches.

Since September the precipitation has been 25.81 inches, the normal for the same period being 23.41.

The total precipitation for April is now 1.99 inches, the normal for the entire month being only 1.28.

Garth Flint of the forest service here, accompanied by George Brooks, made a survey of the unusually heavy snow covering the higher elevations on skiis this week. They returned severely snow burned.

A trip of three days took the couple to Onion Valley where they found 66 inches of snow with a content of 29 inches of water or 44 per cent. At Wabena Creek, at an elevation of 6500 feet the 110 inches of snow measured a water content of 45 inches or 41 per cent.

At Deadman's Flat in the upper end of French Meadows at the 5400-foot level, 92 inches of snow measured 39 inches or 42 per cent water.

An aluminum tube with a hollow core is used to take the measurements. The tube is forced down into the snow and when taken out the core of snow is weighed and measured, the weight determining the water content.

TWO INJURED AS CAR CRASHES INTO POWER POLE HERE

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Thompson of Denville near Lake Tahoe, were injured, their car badly wrecked and one of the Truckee Public Utility District's poles west of town was broken in an automobile accident last Sunday afternoon shortly after 2 o'clock.

According to State Patrolman Arthur Barrick, who investigated, Mr. Thompson, who was driving the car was watching some snow sport enthusiasts tobogganing on a nearby hill and the car left the pavement and crashed into the base of the 45-foot pole snapping it off, but not hampering the service of either the electricity users or telephone subscribers.

Mrs. Thompson suffered a severely lacerated face and broken nose as well as lesser injuries and Thompson has a bruised chest, injured right arm and right knee.

The injured woman was taken to the Sutter hospital in Sacramento by Harold Laity's ambulance. Mr. Thompson accompanied his wife.

BITING THE HAND . . . .

This may be an old fashioned attitude, but somehow it is difficult to understand the logic of strikes by WPA workers, even in a technical sense and aside from moral or ethical considerations.

The 4,000 guests of the government who walked off their jobs in Oakland last week want a wage increase and assurance that there will be no reductions in personnel.

Now a strike, as it used to be understood, is a force in the hands of labor because it stops the production of needed goods or service and imposes a loss upon the employer.

But here we have a picture of men stopping work on jobs thought up expressly to keep them busy, and instead of penalizing the employer, it actually relieves him (the government) of the obligation of paying their wages!

Actually, WPA "strikes" are not strikes. They are demonstrations which, though incapable of forcing anything, are staged with hopes of arousing public sympathy for the demands. Even considered as such, however, the logic is still somewhat bewildering.

The public, trying to keep everyone working who can and to take care of unemployables as well, cannot spread the feast as bountifully as it might wish. There is the federal budget to think about, as well as heavy taxes and the task of having someday to retrench on "made work" projects. Perhaps demands at a time when these are paramount considerations may cause public sympathy to flow. But if it does, then human nature has changed.

There used to be an old adage about looking gift horses in the mouth, and another about biting the hand that feeds. Remember?

THE COURT AND THE STRIKES

Those who expected the Supreme Court to stage a sit-down strike on important matters until the storm abated have now got over their surprise, and there is much comment on the major rulings just handed down.

One of these, in the opinion of many commentators, columnists and congressmen, seems to point the way to a legislative cure for much of the industrial strife on the sit-down front today. They refer to the decision upholding the constitutionality of the Railway Labor Act.

Under this act the railroads have kept themselves strikeless for almost a dozen years. In any dispute it offers first a permanent mediation board, then an emergency board, then voluntary arbitration, permitting no strike until all these steps fail.

Why not such a law for all industries, ask the commentators.

Perhaps it can be done. But there are points to consider. The first whether the law would hold for industries not clearly engaged in interstate commerce, as the railroads are. Another is whether it would bring more such incongruities as the ones faced by the railroads today.

Perhaps mediation machinery like the Railway Labor Act is just what all industries need. But let's be certain about it. It needs a lot of thinking.

MENTAL DOODLING

These eminent statesmen of the various state legislatures of America are out to solve the nation's gravest problems, and no mistake. Look at a few of the laws they've considered lately.

The North Carolina legislature decided tatooing was deleterious to health and appearance, so promptly banned it.

A Nebraska lawmaker proposed morticians and embalmers be restrained from swearing in the presence of the dead.

An Alabaman proposed imprisonment for candidates who violate camjaign pledges. And a Connecticut law would expressly prohibit airplane passengers from tossing bottles overboard where they might crash on heads below!

There is a name for this sort of thing. It is known as mental doodling on the American legislative merry-go-round.

San Francisco's graft investigation has turned into an investigation of an investigation. Now if they'll just investigate the investigators who are investigating the investigation they'll be getting somewhere.

Politically Speaking

By GEORGE E. HELMER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, April 8.—(UP)—After two weeks of maneuvering and delays, the Garrison bond bill sailed through the assembly with such little opposition that skeptics began looking for some evidence of a scheme to block it in the governor's office.

"There's something funny about this," said one staunch advocate of public ownership who had expected a stiff fight in the lower house. "Privately owned power interests certainly can't be sitting back and doing nothing to prevent final adoption of that bill. I'll lay a bet that it isn't signed.

A somewhat similar measure, the Nielsen bill, was held back pending final disposition of the Garrison proposal. There was some thought that if the governor vetoed the Garrison bill, an attempt would be made to revise the Nielsen measure in a manner designed to suit both the legislative and administrative branches of the government.

Assemblymen who favor reduction in the state sales tax "pulled a fast one" and got away with an amendment proposing a decrease before members of the lower house revenue and taxation committee were aware of what happened.

As a result, a bill went out with a "do pass" recommendation to reduce the tax from 3 to 2½ per cent and exempt meals served in restaurants.

Should the legislature adopt this bill, the state would lose approximately $42,000,000 of its expected 1937-39 revenue and the general fund would go in the hole again unless substitute taxes were levied.

The tax reduction would cost the state $30,000,000 and exemption of restaurant meals would substract $12,000,000 from the estimated $180,000,000 the tax would return if left alone, Controller Harry B. Riley said.

Refusal of the assembly public morals committee to take seriously a bill by Assemblyman Charles Hunt to prevent hiring of women bartenders caused the little fireman from Los Angeles to orate on the floor and win support of a majority on his motion to withdraw the bill from committee.

Many voted for the proposal because they saw in the bill a good chance to have some fun through exchanges of wisecracks and they desired a good audience for their remarks which frequently get off

Republican state leaders and legislators found themselves in an unusual position when they turned out to attend a luncheon given for Paul V. McNutt, prominent democrat, new high commissioner of the Philippines, ex-governor of Indiana and former national commander of the American Legion.

McNutt began his after-luncheon address by saying he was sorry he was obliged to make a political speech at such a time. He apogogized to Republican Governor Frank F. Merriam, who introduced him with many complimentary words, then proceeded to lambast the republican party and praise President Roosevelt and the national administration.

Although most of those attending the luncheon were emocrats, there were numerous republicans both at

ULLAND SETS RECORD AT CISCO BUT FALLS TO LOSE TO RUUD

CISCO, April 8.— Diminutive Sigmund Ruud, ruddy-faced and rotund, who holds the world's record for ski jumping, Sunday carried the colors of Norway to victory in the feature event of the Auburn Ski Club's invitational jumjing contest on the 75 meter hill of the club near Cisco.

The graceful Viking spotted his most serious rivals, Sig Ulland, state champion of Lake Tahoe, and Roy Mikkelsen, former national champion, 22 feet and ten feet respectively on the first jump and then trimmed them by a perfect jump on the crumbling snow slope, which neither of his opponents could negotiate without falling on their second attempts.

To show the crowd his mastery over the difficult hill, Ruud made a third jump, an exhibition, and again landed in perfect form, an even 191 feet from the take-off.

Ulland drew some consolation out of leaping 192 feet, to set a new record for the hill, and Mikkelsen the state slalom champion bested Ruud in a special slalom race later in the day by a fraction of a second.

In his first jump of the afternoon Ruud leaped 170 feet, apparently playing it safe. Ulland followed with a leap of 192 feet, negotiated in good form anl Mikkelsen turned in a jump of 180 feet.

This put the record holder in a bad spot, but after tramping up the long hill he came back with a jump of 190 feet, in perfect form. Ulland followed him, had a chance to clinch first place honors with a repetition of his first jump. However, he elected to try for distance and landed out 197 feet, but fell a few yards after he hit the incline, for a consequent loss of 10 form points.

This put the Lake Tahoe jumper definitely behind Ruud and left Mikkelsen with a chance to defeat both Ruud and Ulland.

Mikkelsen did not press for distance and landed gracefully on the 188-foot mark, but fell, with a loss of 20 form points, making victory for Ruud certain.

Ulland fell and suffered an injured neck and withdrew from further competition in the slalom. He also suffered a badly swolen eye.

Kathleen Starratt of the Lake Tahoe Ski Club won first place in the women's slalom.

Most of the Tahoe team was in competition at Mt. Lassen.

TAHOE SKIIER WIN LASSEN EVENTS AS A. HENRY IS STAR

MINERAL, April 8.—Tahoe state champions walked off with the fifth annual tournament of the Mt. Lassen Ski Club held Sunday, amassing 44½ points to Lassen's 32½ points.

The Paul Bunyan ski Club of Westwood was third with two points. Reno and Mt. Shasta went unplaced.

Individual honors were shared by Ted Rex of Mt. Lassen and Albert Henry of Lake Tahoe. Rex won the slalom and Class A jumping while Henry won the downhill and Class C jumping and was second in the slalom.

Rex, leaping beautifuly in spite of adverse conditions, stretched 128 feet and 121 feet to defeat Renner of Tahoe and Brand of Lassen in the A jump. In the slalom he rode the course is 46 seconds and 43 3-5 seconds, winning easily.

Class B honors went to Walter Mandeville of Tahoe who nosed out Carl Bechdolt of Tahoe. Dick Brown of Paul Bunyan was third.

Henry, leaping 101 and 104 feet, defeated Dale Parker and Jack Hampton both of Lassen, who placed second and third respectively in the downhill race.

Henry covered an icy course in two minutes, 36 seconds, beating Rex and Bechdolt who tied for second in two minutes, 40 seconds.

Despite adverse conditions, approximately 750 persons attended the meet.

ACE SKIIER' HURTS ARE NOT SERIOUS

TAHOE CITY, April 8.— The injury to his neck received by Sigurd Ulland, ace A jumper of the Tahoe Ski club in the competition at Cisco last Sunday, while very painful, is fortunately not permanent nor serious. Ulland broke the course record with a jump of 192 feet, then jumped 197 but fell. He placed second to Sigmund Ruud, Norwegian champion and Roy Mikkelsen of Auburn was third. Ulland outjumped Ruud 27 feet.

Miss Kathleen Starratt of the Lake Tahoe club and Sacramento Junior college, came in first in the ladies slalom.

OFFICIAL TESTING OF CARS TWICE EACH YEAR IS ADVOCATED BY INGELS

SACRAMENTO, April 8.—(UP)—Ray Ingels, director of the motor vehicle department, predicted that 75 to 70 per cent of the glaring headlights on machines traveling Califronia highways will be removed within six months after official inspection of all motor cars becomes effective.

Recent tests, he said, showed that 54 per cent of all machines have faulty lights.

"Official inspection of all cars twice a year by the state," Ingels said, "would correct from 75 to 90 per cent of these lights and those who drive at night would be able to do so with much less annoyance and with a far greater degree of safety."

NEW USE FOR "JACKASS" WHISKEY DISCOVERED IN RAID AT STOCKTON

STOCKTON, April 8.—(UP)— A new use for "jackass" whisky has been discovered, according to officers who arrested Christ Fahrner, 61, for illegal possession of liquor.

The officers said they found a 20-gallon capacity still and a quantity of jackass on Fahrner's ranch. They believed the liquor was to be used for beverage purposes.

Fahrner, however, informed the officers, they said, that it was used only as an after-shaving lotion.

BANK WILL CONTINUE AID FOR HOME BUILDERS IN PLACE OF HOUSING ACT

The Bank of America will continue to make modernization loans under terms similar to those established by Title 1 of the National Housing Act despite the expiration at midnight March 31 of the section of the act, L. M. Giannini, president of the bank, announced this week.

Under the new plan, home-owners may borrow up to $1,000 for modernization purposes, larger amounts being subject to the bank's regular terms. Repayment of balances up to $500 may be extended over a period of two years and amounts up to $1,000 over a three-year period.

POLITICALLY SPEAKING

the head table and scattered elsewhere among the crowd of 250 or more. Since they could not leave without becoming conspicuous, they sat through the speech and joined in giving McNutt a generous hand at its conclusion.

The playful antics of assemblymen on "April Fools Day" proved too much for E. V. Latham, Alhambra republican, who indignantly criticized his colleagues because they touched off firecrackers, disconnected microphones while speeches were being made, distributed soapy candy, exploding cigarettes, cigars and matches, filled the air with sneeze powder and cavorted generally like youngsters having a good time.

Latham had to shout his loudest to make himself heard above the Bronx cheers, whistles and shouts which sounded when he started his tirade of criticism.

Perhaps he had a sense of impending trouble then, because he slipped out of the assembly about the time a plot was formulated to set off a bunch of firecrackers under his chair.

"I hope we are not here July 4," Harrison W. Call exclaimed as a loud explosion caused him to jump out of his chair.

Asked if he was pickling his hands in brine, Assemblyman Ellis E. Patterson, who invited Assemblyman Seth Millington outside to settle a personal argument, remarked: "I don't think I have too."

LEGISLATIVE SIDELIGHTS
(By United Press)

SACRAMENTO, April 8.—(UP)—A resolution was introduced in the assembly to remove Samuel W. Yorty and John B. Pelletier from the judiciary committee because they were laymen and did not understand legal terms used in bills.

"Why just throw two of the shysters off? Throw 'em all off," shouted Patrick J. McMurray, San Francisco.

"We'll never have a decent government until we bar all lawyers from any public office except judge," Pelletier eclared. "You'd better keep us on — we're the only members o. the committee who accomplish any good."

During the first Saturday meeting of the session, none of the San Francisco delegation except Patrick J. McMurray appeared in the assembly. Immediately, a resolution was adopted proposing that San Francisco be ceded to Japas.

It was a rare day when the Los Angeles delegation could take advantage of foghorn voiced William Hornblower and other shouter-downers in the Bay metropolis side of the house.

Senator Ralph Swing, San Bernardino, introduced a bill, in bright red ink. asking colleagues to contribute to a "revolving hosiery fund" upon which stenographers could draw to refund themselves for the expense of damaged hosiery.

"Under present working conditions these pretty girls are forced to spend 30 per cent of their salary each week to replace stockings damaged in the routine of duty," the resolution said.

Senator Karl Keough disagrees with the viewpoint of organized labor that workers on relief should be paid the prevailing wage scale.

After hearing a labor advocate state relief workers should be paid as much as anyone else, carpenters $1.00 an hour, for example, the senator exclaimed: "You know, boys, the more I think that over the more I think I'd rather be on relief than a senator."

Anyone who doesn't like the provisions of a bill is given full opportunity to register objections during committee hearings. Many organizations keep representatives on the legislative battlefront throughout the session to protect their interests. One ofthese "third house" members

"Would the gentleman have any objection to filing a phonograph record of his objections with the committee?" queried the irrepressible Hunt.

A group of the boys entered in the national intercollegiate boxing championships here were brought into the assembly chamber and introduced to the members. One of the collegians was said to be from North Carolina, another from South Carolina.

Assemblyman Mike Burns of Eureka demanded recognition and received it.

"Maybe you boys would be able to answer something that's been puzzling me a long time," Said Mike. "Just what did the governor of North Carolina say to the governor of South Carolina. Or was it vice versa?" The collegians only grinned.
